ELECTRICITY

Electricity in Ghana is 230 Volts, alternating at 50 cycles per second. If you travel to Ghana with a device that does not accept 230 Volts at 50 Hertz, you will need a voltage converter. Power sockets in Ghana generally accept two types of plug: Three rounded pins arranged in a triangular manner and/or three squared pins with the latter being predominant.

HEALTH CONCERNS/ MEDICAL SERVICES

Yellow Fever: All visitors travelling to Ghana should have a valid International Certificate of Vaccination against yellow fever.

Malaria Prevention: Because visitors travelling to Ghana are at high risk of contracting malaria, it is advisable to take anti-malaria medication prior to arrival, during your stay and for a short time after returning home. In addition, take other personal protective measures, such as the use of insect repellents to reduce malaria risk.

First Aid: It is important to note that all the listed hotels have first aid kit or facility, which is opened every day for 24 hours. In case of any health problem, please contact the reception staff for help.

If you need medical care whilst in Ghana, be advised that medical providers may not accept payment through your insurance company abroad. In such a situation, you will have to pay in full after your treatment and later file a claim with your insurance company for reimbursement. Therefore you should have access to cash or a debit/credit card. The local organising committee of GLOBELICS 2018 will not be responsible for any medical costs incurred by participants.

Water: Even though pipe-borne water is generally potable, it is always safer to drink bottled water. This is widely available in small shops, and will also be provided at the Conference as part of snacks. Some hotels provide complimentary bottled water in the rooms.

SECURITY

The security of persons and property in Ghana is on the whole reasonably good. However, as in most major international cities, it is advisable to observe the appropriate security measures. Therefore you are advised to take necessary precautions to avoid being the victim of crime. For example:

- ✓ Leave your valuables at the hotel reception and only carry small amounts of money on you
- ✓ Hire a recommended taxi if you wish to move around at night and for your personal safety, avoid dark deserted lanes and street
- ✓ Do not respond to strangers accosting you outside the compound or in the street
- ✓ Do not walk far from your hotel location late in the night

CLIMATE AND CLOTHING

October is slightly cold with temperature ranging between 25°C and 30°C. However, the weather can change unpredictably. Light clothing is generally recommended.

CURRENCY/ BANK

Local currency and exchange: The official currency in Ghana is the Ghanaian Cedi, abbreviated as GHC. As at June 22nd the indicative exchange rate is USD 1 = GHC 4.72. Major foreign currencies can be exchanged at the international airport, banks and bureau de change throughout Accra, and also within the vicinity of the Conference venue. It is advisable to carry US Dollars, Euros or Pounds Sterling.

Please note that the listed hotels may accept only Master, American Express and Visa credit cards.

Traveller's Cheque: It is possible to exchange Traveller's Cheques in Accra, though it is not accepted at every forex bureau counter. The larger hotels that have forex are likely to take them, as well as the bigger forex bureaux. Be aware that the rate will be less than what you get if you use hard currency. Most of the big banks (e.g. Barclays and Standard Chartered) will exchange traveller's cheques.

ATM Machines: ATM machines are available within the Conference venue and some other locations in the East Legon enclave of the hotels.
